

III. COLLOQUES, CONGRÈS, COURS

ÉTATS UNIS

Pilgrimage in the Byzantine Empire, 7th-15th century (Dumbarton Oaks, 5-7 May, 2000).

Focus on Byzantine Textiles and Costume: A Workshop on Current Research (Dumbarton Oaks, 22-23 September, 2000).

26th Annual Byzantine Studies Conference (Harvard University, 26-29 October, 2000).

Antioch (combined with AIEMA meeting) (Worcester Art Museum, Massachusetts 18-19 November, 2000).

A major exhibition on Antioch, organized by Christine Kondoleon at the Worcester Art Museum (Massachusetts), will run from October 7, 2000 through February 4, 2001.

Helen Evans reports that vastly expanded new Byzantine galleries will be opened at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in November 2000. In the spring of 2004, she will curate a Byzantine exhibition at the Museum that will cover the last centuries of the empire from the Latin Conquest through the coining of the name Byzantium for the state in the mid-sixteenth century. She hopes eventually to organize an exhibition on the myth of Byzantium during the subsequent centuries.